So far none of our feminine sex have made any leap year calls, however we will not guarantee that we will be able to say this at the close of the year 1916 for we have one very attractive "eligible" in our office.

One of our business men who is not given to rising early became so alarmed at the bright light diffused by the passage of the brilliant meteor he was about to get up when his wife quieted him by telling him that was the way daylight made its appearance every morning.

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the British suffrage leader, who was detained at Ellis Island when she arrived on the steamship St. Paul, was ordered excluded from this country by the special board of inquiry which sat at the immigration station, we are afraid of militant ladies.

In view of the fact we printed an old school essay and said it was read 65 years ago when it should have been 56, thus making a difference of ten years in quite a number of ages, we have caused to be printed and hung over our desk the following sign: "Don't shoot the Editor--send your ammunition to the Allies!"

Should you meet a friend from an other town and pass the time of day with him the first question you will ask will be "How's everything in your town?" The answer invariably is "Oh, everybody has the grip." Along with the grip are many cases of cold, tonsillitis, "rashes in the head," and many other kindred afflictions.

"At School In Old Kentucky," is the title of a full-page article in the New Year number of the Country Gentleman, describing the work of the College of Agriculture of the State University. The article is illustrated with a number of photographic reproductions, showing the various phases of the work of the College of Agriculture and the Experiment Station, not the least interesting of which is the cut showing the magnificent trophies won by the dairy and live stock team at the National Dairy Show and Horse Show a few years ago. The article goes on to state that within the past ten years the number of students in the College of Agriculture has increased from 27 to 316, and in the department of Home Economics, from 10 to 63.

GREAT REJOICING.

There is great rejoicing in the households of the Bastins and Lears over the arrival of a little girl in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Bastin. The little Miss has been christened Willie Allene.

NEW CLERK.

Our local haberdasher, Mr. James W. Smith, has recently secured the services of Mr. Ghent Bush, of Richmond, as one of his salesmen and he assumed those duties last week. Mr.
Bush comes highly recommended and we are glad to welcome him into our midst.

SELLS OUT.

Mack Turner, who has conducted a grocery on depot street for the past year, sold out his business last week to Mr. M. L. Schwren, who came here recently with his family from North Carolina. Possession was given Monday morning.

POPULAR OFFICIAL.

Guy Davidson, mayor of Lancaster, was in Danville for a short time Tuesday. Mr. Davidson is serving his second term as chief official of our neigh-oring city, which shows his popularity among all classes of her citizens.
He told The Messenger that the "dead lock" over election of chief of police has been broken by the selection of Mr. Buck, formerly of Junction City, who has been on the job for some time.
The other candidate for the job was Luther Herron, well known in Danville. --Danville Messenger.

WHY SHOULD THIS BE?

The financial statement of the condition of the City of Lancaster is published in this issue of the Record. It shows that the city Treasurer was paid during the year 1915 the sum of $220.24 for his services and taking care of the city deposits. Now the city of Stanford, which is a town of about the same population, sold to the highest bidder last Friday night, the privilege of her city depository and received $220.00 for the same. Will some one please tell us why this seeming extravagance of $40 of the peoples money? Stanford pays her city treasurer $50 a year.

EUROPE'S SCARRED SURFACE

For nearly a year and a half ten million men have been engaged in tearing up the surface of European battle fronts. Most of this land was formerly devoted to agriculture. Who will restore it to its former condition, and when? It has been estimated, that allowing for first, second, third and up to seventh line trenches which exist on some of the fronts, there are thousands and miles of underground and open defenses in Europe today. In addition to these gaping mutilations of a once fair landscape, the earth has been pitted and pock-marked by millions of shells and thousands of exploded mines. There have been dug hundreds of miles of tunnels, which one day will cave in and further scar the land. The husbandman who follows the soldier in these desolate acres will face a forlorn prospect.

EASTER NOT TILL APRIL.

Easter comes later this year than it has since 1905. April 23 is the date of the end of Lent. Easter Sunday was the same date in 1905. Easter will not come as late as April 23 again until 1943, when it will be two days later, April 25. In 1886 Easter Sunday fell on April 25, the latest date for Easter from 1801 until 2000. In the year 2000 Easter Sunday will be on April 23.
With the exception of 1943 there will be no Easter Sunday as late as April 23 until 2000.

Coming on April 23, Easter Sunday, will be nineteen days later than last year. Next year it will be fifteen days earlier. In the retail business world Easter furnishes the greatest spring stimulus. Spring will almost be over by the time Easter arrives and this great religious holiday will almost mark the beginning of early summer this year because of its lateness.

DEFENDS HERSELF.

Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, chairman of the Kentucky Illiteracy Commission, said to have drawn upon the State treasury to the extent of $1,585.82 without authority, returned to Frankfort from the East and when seen said she would make a reply to the "attack" upon the commission at a meeting of that body to be held in the capitol building. The "attack," to use Mrs.
Stewart's term, consisted of a communication from Attorney General M.
M. Logan, through his special assistant, John C. Duffy, of Hopkinsville, to the State Auditor setting forth that the commission, without any authority, in his opinion, had drawn funds from the State treasury. It is set forth in the communication that the money was paid over on recommendation of the State Sinking Fund Commission, but attention is called to the fact that the bill creating the illiteracy commission provided no funds whatsoever for it other than voluntary contributions from public-spirited persons.

IT COMES HIGH.

It costs a country newspaper money every time it takes a stand on any question, says the Shelbyville Record.
Almost any citizen besides a newspaper man can do it without injuring his business. If the editor advocates improvements, the sore heads go after him and sometimes stop their paper.
If he opposes improvements the progressive sort get on him and call him a back number and a knocker. If he publishes politics, the opposition gets into his hair, and if he does not, he is charged with being afraid to stand out for his opinion. If he condemns mail-order houses, there are some people who ask him to attend to his own business, as they have a right to trade where they please. If he publishes a mail-order ad, some of the merchants are after his gore. No country paper can come out squarely without making enemies and losing money, and in the run of a year or more will incur some criticism for everybody.

The newspaper that undertakes to please everybody will please nobody; if it is honest and sincere and thoughtful, the public will respect it.

TO BE CONGRATULATED.

The Joseph Mercantile Co. is to be congratulated on securing the services of Mrs. Lula Drakes, of Nicholasville, who is a splendid clerk and has taken her position at once.

NEXT SATURDAY

Will Be A "Jubilee Day" In Lancaster.

If you fail to come to Lancaster next Saturday you will miss something that you will regret the balance of your life. It will be a day that will go down in history and you will find that there will be something doing every minute. There is going to be three of these big days, the first next Saturday, the 22nd, the next one will be Monday January 31st and the third one will be the fourth Monday in February.

Now don't take our word for it, but be in Lancaster early next Saturday morning and come prepared to stay all day. If you have no way of coming in town, just walk in, you may get a good ride back. If you do you may count yourself lucky; if you don't get to ride back you may be lucky anyway. Now don't fail to come next Saturday.

POPULAR TOBACCO BUYERS

Large Part Of Garrard's Crop Being Handled By C. A. Speith and Company.

Although Garrard County's tobacco crop will fall short about two millions pounds this year on account of its light weight and reduction in acreage over last year, C. A. Speith and Company, who have been buying here for several years, are getting even more than their share of the crop in this county and quite a bit from other counties beside.
Judging from the number of loaded wagons seen on the street in front of the Warehouse every day, one would think we had a few loose leaf houses here of our own. This is not at all; for this year they have established a branch house at Paint Lick and hundreds of loads are coming into this enterprising little hamlet every week. No one is ever disappointed with the price he gets from Billy Speith or Jake Graw and he knows before he leaves the barn just what that price will be. They have hundreds and hundreds of customers in this section who have sold them their crops for years and no inducements can be offered them to try other markets.

BEAZLEY BROTHERS

Buy Famous Farm In Fayette.

The following from the Lexington Leader is of interest to their friends in this county, where they resided, up to a few years ago.

"Shenandoah Hall", one of the most beautiful and historic of the Bluegrass country estates, which for many years has been the home of Solomon L. Van Meter, former member of the Legislature from this county, has been sold by the latter to W. S. and R. A. Beazley, from whom C. B. Schaeffer, the Chicago trotting horse breeder, recently bought the noted McGrathiana stock farm. The Van Meter farm is three miles from Lexington, on the Bryan's Station pike, and is considered one of the best in Fayette county, comprises approximately 700 acres and is all in grass. It is beautifully situated in one of the historic sections of the Bluegrass country, being only a short distance from the famous Bryan Station spring, near which the pioneer fort of that name stood, and in addition to other improvements has an attractive modern residence of fifteen rooms, built of brick, with stone trimmings, erected about fifteen years ago by Mr. Van Meter.

The deal for the purchase of the property has been pending for several weeks, but has just been brought to a successful conclusion. The price paid for the farm was not made public, but it is understood to have brought in the neighborhood of $225 an acre, or $175, 000. The purchasers, by the terms of the sale, are to get possession March 1.
R. A. Beazley confirmed the report of the purchase, and stated that he and his brother had bought the place as a home.

"We have admired this place for several years and believe that we have in it fully as desirable a farm as McGrathiana, which we sold last summer to C.
B. Schaeffer, of Chicago. Primarily we purchased it as a home, but we intend to convert it into a cattle and horse farm. By the terms of the purchase, we get possession March 1. The farm is all in grass and is well adapted for the purpose for which we purchased it."

The Beazley brothers, who are bachelors, came here about six years ago from Garrard county, where they had made a success in handling horses and raising export cattle, and bought of Col. Milton Young his noted stock farm McGrathiana, on the Newtown pike.
There they embarked extensively in the business of raising cattle and horses, at the same time improving the farm and making it more valuable.
Since they sold it to Mr. Schaeffer, the Chicago millionaire clubman and horseman, they have been looking around for another farm in this section, and their purchase of Shenandoah Hall means that they will continue as citizens of Fayette county. Both are excellent citizens, enterprising and energetic in the pursuit of their business.

NOTHING

As Important As Buying Groceries

Nothing anywhere as important except possibly to cook them.

Poor Groceries cannot be turned into good food--no matter how expert the cook may be.

A dollar saved by buying cheap groceries will likely turn out to be TWO wasted.

A loss of nourishment--A waste of eatables--A lack of relish.

We invite all particular housewives to test the goodness of our groceries--then to act as they find them. That's all.

BUYS OUT WALTON.

Mr. E. C. Walton, who only recently purchased the Harrodsburg Leader has sold out his interests to Editor W. O.
McIntyre and Messrs Arthur Timoney and A. E. Hundley, of Danville. Mr.
Timoney will take active charge and the paper will be known from this date as the Harrodsburg Democrat. Mr.
Walton, we understand, has been offered a very lucrative position in his old home town, Stanford and he now hopes to become fixed there permanently.

NEW FIRM.

Messrs Cleveland Rose and F. L.
Conn have purchased the interest of Mr. W. D. Hammack in the Lancaster Motor Car Company and possession was given them last Monday morning.
Mr. Hammack moved to this city about a year ago from Paint Lick and is undecided at this time just what he will do. The new firm needs no introduction to the people of this county as both are well known and popular. Mr.
Conn is considered one of the best mechanicians in the state and if your auto goes wrong you will be wise to look him up.

DOUBLE HONORS.

In the Annual Inter-Society Debate between the Patterson and Union Literary Societies held at State University Jan. 14, the Patterson Society was the winner. The question for debate was Resolved, "that Congress should adopt the recommendation of Secretary Daniels of the Navy Department for national defense."

The first speaker of the Patterson team was G. C. Wilson of Paint Lick, Ky. The Patterson team rode over their rivals in easy fashion. The winning Society will keep the Barker loving cup for one year.

Not only did Grover Cleveland-better known there as "Pickles" get the honor of helping bring home the long absent and muchly coveted Cup but he won double honors when he got first place on the Varsity Debating Team which will debate Center College in the spring. This incidentally qualifies him for membership in the Tau Kappa Alpha, an honorary National Fraternity,
--an honor which is attained by a comparatively few men in a lifetime.

GER QUARTERS.

The firm of Dickerson and Carrier, who have occupied the old Hemphill corner for a number of years, have leased in addition to this room, the one recently vacated by J. F. Holtzelaw and Son, next to the Kengarian hotel.
The principal reason given for the change was that this enterprising firm needed larger quarters for their increasing business. They will retain the old store, using it as a storage room for their heavy groceries and hardware.

THE PRESIDENT'S HONEY-

MOON EXPENSIVE.

Hot Springs is one of the most expensive places in America in which to spend any time, whether you're on a honeymoon or not. It is only the wealthy who can live there for ten days or more, even if they are satisfied with a room and bath.

The special train which conveyed the president, Mrs. Wilson and their attendants to Hot Springs "cost in the neighborhood of $200 each way," said one of the railroad officials.

The president's suite at the Homestead rents for $30 a day. His valet and Mrs. Wilson's maid had rooms for $3 a day each. The transportation of the White House automobiles was $60 each way. The room for Charley Sch-wem, the president's own stenographer was $6 a day. The room and board for seven secret service men were $22 a day. Salary of the secret service men will average $43 a day. Garage fees and gasoline average $3 a day; wages of servants $3 a day; salary of stenographer $4 a day; tips and fees $75, making $2,729.

While one might compute the amount which was spent for flowers, the boxes which arrived from Washington containing American Beauty roses each morning could not have cost less than $15 daily.

Outside of these expenses--all of which were borne by the president personally and the government--the sixteen days of the president's honeymoon cost the newspapers of this country the round sum of $16,000. This of course, included salaries and hotel bills of reporters, telegraph and telephone messages.

115 lbs at 36.

Average for 1635 lbs $32.68 per hundred.

Joe sold 2310 pounds that averaged him $25.40, selling 105 lbs at $60. hundred.
M. K. Ross, 735 lbs at $20. per hundred, Tussey Bros., 2110 lbs averaged $19.09

M. L. Prather, Garrard County, 3990 lbs averaged him $20.15, Coy. & Duersen 4035 lbs averaged $20., Burris & Lackey, 1780 lbs averaged $18.00, Curry & Davis 1050 lbs, averaged $17.01, D. T. Bogie & Son 1340 lbs averaged $17.50, G. W. Deatherage 1185 lbs averaged $17.02, John Dawson & Son, 3765 lbs, averaged $16.20, Julia Million, 2265 lbs averaged $15.00.

We have sold over a million pounds at the fine average of 1098 the hundred, making ours one of the best markets in Kentucky. It has always been as good as THE BEST—IT IS NOW BETTER THAN THE BEST. Our market is today higher than it ever was since we have been in business, grade for grade. Bring your tobacco to the OLD MADISON, like other people are doing, best and highest prices always. Look over the above prices and see how you like them. We expect the market to continue at the present or even to get better.

Thanking you again,
Madison Tobacco Warehouse Co.

TO RHEUMATISM

Judge Barhorst Testifies Rheuma Has Given Permanent Relief to Many.

No matter how many so-called remedies for rheumatism you have tried, do not be skeptical about the wonderful curative power of Rheuma.

There is no other preparation like Rheuma. It goes to work so quickly as to leave no doubt in your mind of the ultimate successful and permanent relief. One dose daily acts on the diseased kidneys, blood and joints more readily than any other known remedy. It cleans out the "human sewers" and thus purifies the entire system.

"I, John Barhorst, Justice of the Peace of McLean Township, Ft. Laramie, Ohio, do certify that I was cured of a very bad case of rheumatism by using two bottles of Rheuma. It is now two years since I used the remedy, and I am still as well as ever. Previous to using Rheuma I was a cripple, walking on crutches. I have advised Rheuma to at least a dozen persons and each one speaks as highly of it as I."

You can secure a bottle of Rheuma for only 50 cents of R. E. McRoberts or any druggist. 1-20-21.

HAMMACK

Mrs. Mary Hammack is very ill. Mr. Chester Hammond has the grip. Sunday school at Good Hope is progressing nicely.

Miss Eddie Faulkner visited Miss Nellie Beazley Sunday.

Mr. Jim Parsons has moved to the Spratt farm near town.

Mr. Joe Hammond has a frost bitten foot that is giving him trouble.

Mr. Jim McQuerry's folks are all sick with the grip at this writing.

Miss Bertha Kelly of Point Leavelle is visiting her sister, Mrs. Rogers.

Mr. and Mrs. Corb Manual are rejoicing over a fine girl at their home.

Mr. Web Faulkner and wife visited Mr. Faulkner and wife of Manse Sunday.

Miss Mary Beazley has been visiting relatives at Paint Lick this place.

Mrs. Maggie McQuerry has been very sick but is better at this writing.

Misses Georgia and Zella Dillon were the pleasant guests of Miss Leli Coldiron, Sunday.

Mr. Robert Hammack bought a nice saddle mare from Mr. Ceph Morgan, price unknown.

Messrs Jack Hammack, Jim Ballard to Jim Coldiron called on Mr. E. G. Hammack, Sunday.

Blue grass and orchard grass seed, cow pens and soy beans for sale by Hudson, Hughes and Farnau.

Mrs. Arthur Ball who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Hawley of Ind., has returned home.

Miss Katie Clark of Cartersville was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Maggie McQuerry on last Friday.

Mr. Oscar Hammack and daughter, Miss Jessie Mae of Paint Lick, were the guests of Mrs. A. J. Hammack Saturday night.

Mr. Joe Archer left Sunday for Villa Grove Illinois where he will remain the rest of the winter. The young folks of this place regret very much to give him up.

Mr. Samuel Bolton, residing near Paint Lick, died last Thursday and was buried in the Manse cemetery. He leaves to mourn his loss, a wife and two children.

Bad Habits.

Those who breakfast at eight o'clock or later, lunch at twelve and have dinner at six are almost certain to be troubled with indigestion. They do not allow time for one meal to digest before taking another. Not less than five hours should elapse between meals. If you are troubled with indigestion correct your habits and take Chamberlain's Tablets, and you may reasonably hope for a quick recovery. These tablets strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. Obtainable everywhere. 1-m.

TRANSYLVANIA COL-

LEGE NOTES.

The Transylvania Glee Club has issued a very attractive program to be used in their concerts during January and February.

The National Field Workers Association will hold its annual meeting at Transylvania, Feb. 8-12. Representatives from about twenty states will be present.

President Jesse C. Caldwell, Transylvania College 1886, and for the last eight years president of Atlantic Christian College, Wilson, N. C., has accepted the position of dean of Drake University.

Mrs. Chas. F. Norton, the librarian, is listing the old books of the library, many of which were presented by distinguished men of Europe and America, and date back as early as 1529.

The new men who are showing up in good form in basket ball are J. M. Durbin, Cynthia; C. A. Dutt, Alma, Mich; Sheffer, Memphis; B. C. Chinn, Leesburg.

J. B. Earnest, a second year student, who made his M. A., Ph. D. in Virginia University, has decided to enter the mission field, and will doubtless receive an appointment to China.

The Crimson Rambler, a weekly student publication, announced in its last issue a forthcoming campaign for students. The slogan will be "501 X '21."

HOGWALLOW NEWS

Once a cigar stump gets under your feet it is harder to get rid of than a friendly cat.

Little Fidelity Flidders carried an all-day sucker to school with him, but the teacher used it until recess.

The Dog Hill preacher had on another clean shirt last Sunday. Poke Eazley says he can see how some folks can afford to dress so well.

Sim Flinder say he cannot see how some roosters are able to be around much in the day time after having sat up all night crowing.

While Raz Barlow was over to see Miss Frouze Allsop Sunday evening, he enjoyed some funny moving pictures by turning the pictures in the family album right fast.

Dock Hooks, who has gained much notoriety as a dentist during his leisure hours at the blacksmith shop, mixed business with pleasure yesterday by pulling a fine tooth for Miss Gondaia Hestep.

Poke Eazley had his picture made while over at Tickville a few days ago. It is a very good resemblance of Poke, but there is a little blur around the necktie, he having swallowed just as the camera went off.

The editor of the Tickville Tidings is at sea over the working of the new law which requires all editors to state under oath who owns their printing plants. He didn't know who owns the Tidings, as it has never been paid for.

There was an interesting contest at the Rye Straw store this week, as to who could keep a feather up in the air the longest by blowing it. If the feather had got directly over one of Mrs. Tobe Moseley's conversations she would have won the prize, Tobe says.

Columbus Allsop, had he had the advantages of earlier training, might have become a sleuth equal to the deputy constable, as it is he is still possessed of a pair of keen eyes, and considerable shrewdness. On Friday morning he saw a track of a mink in his back yard near the chicken roost, and, getting a pencil and paper, he copied it off and started out through the Gimlet Creek bottoms in search of the owner. After hunting for many hours and examining several minks, he was at last rewarded with success, having found the animal it fitted, and returning home with him.

LOOK TO YOUR STOMACH.

It is an unusual thing for a druggist to sell medicine under a guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure. Yet this is the way R. E. McRoberts, the popular druggist is selling Mi-o-na, the standard dyspepsia remedy.

Never before has he had so large a number of customers tell him that a medicine has been successful as with Mi-o-na. People who a few months ago looked like walking skeletons have put on flesh and today are ruddy and vigorous with perfect digestion and good health.

There is no longer any need for anyone suffering or making their friends suffer on account of dyspepsia. Mi-o-na can always be relied upon. The percentage of cures is so great that there is little risk to R. E. McRoberts in guaranteeing to return the money if the medicine does not relieve. And he stands ready to do so without any questions.

Headaches, all forms of indigestion, specks before the eyes, dizzy feelings, and all forms of liver trouble are helped by Mi-o-na. A few days' treatment should show considerable gain in health while a complete cure often follows rapidly. 1-13-21.

SOUTHERN DRUG MERCHANT MAKES UNUSUAL STATEMENT

Great Business Losses Due to Neglect

W. WITHERS MILLER

President of the Polk-Miller Drug Company, Richmond, Va., is authority for the following extraordinary statement:

"I estimate that the business men of this country could increase their efficiency fully ten per cent by taking an occasional laxative and not neglecting the bowels as most of them do."

He also said that if the Department of Commerce in Washington would present each business man in the country with a box of Rexall Orderlies, it would be of great benefit to the national welfare. Rexall Orderlies are prompt in action, pleasant to take and never gripe, can be used by men, women or children, and are just the thing for toning up sluggish livers.

We have the exclusive selling rights for this great laxative. Trial size, 10 cents. R. E. McROBERTS & SON. THE REXALL STORE

Mr. Samuel Bolton departed this life on Wednesday at his home near Moran's Summit after a lingering illness from tuberculosis. Funeral services were held on Friday afternoon at Paint Lick church of which he was a member by Rev. W. M. Eldridge and the burial was in Paint Lick cemetery. He is survived by his wife and little son and to them is offered the sympathy of a host of friends in their bereavement.

Mrs. James Spillman died suddenly on Tuesday morning at four o'clock of heart trouble at her home at Manse. Although she had been ill for some little while, no one thought her condition serious and her death came as a great shock to her family as to the community at large. She was a faithful member of old Paint Lick church, where funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at three o'clock by her pastor, Rev. W. M. Eldridge, after which the body was laid to rest in the Paint Lick cemetery. She is survived by her husband, three sons and three daughters and the sincerest sympathy of the whole community goes out to this bereaved family and also to the aged father and mother upon whom the blow has fallen so heavily.

Miss Gladys Patterson entertained at a five course dinner Friday evening at her beautiful home, in honor of Miss Lula McWhorter, of Paint Lick Ky, who is here the guest of her sisters, Miss Stella McWhorter and Mrs. Labah T. Kirk. In the evening progressive "500" was played. Those present were Misses Lula McWhorter, Stella McWhorter, Enlah Fitzpatrick, Ethel Williams, Irene LaViers, Edna Hager, Mr. Pond, Mr. Rickard, Mr. Vice, Russell Hager, Stanley Temple and Edward Conley.

On last Monday Miss Stella McWhorter entertained the Auction Bridge Club to a six o'clock dinner. It was an eight course dinner served in elegant style. In the center of the table was a beautiful bunch of roses. Each boy was presented with a red carnation, while each girl wore a yellow carnation. After dinner the merry bunch enjoyed the theatre then returned to the home and spent the remainder of the evening playing bridge. The club is composed of Misses Gladys Patterson, Irene LaViers, Stella McWhorter, Edna Hager, and Lula McWhorter of Paint Lick Ky; guest of Miss Hager, Messrs Stanley Temple, Russell Hager, Prof. Pond, Mr. Rickards, Skinny Vice.

Miss Edna Hager entertained at six o'clock dinner, in honor of her guest, Miss Lula McWhorter, the following: Misses Stella McWhorter, Irene LaViers, Gladys Patterson, and Lula McWhorter, of Paint Lick, Ky. Messrs. Prof. Pond, M. Pickards, Stanley Temple, Russell Hager and Thos. H. Wall, of Huntington, W. Va. Miss Hager as hostess entertained these young people very beautifully. Before entering the dining room each member was presented with a bunch of beautiful flowers. The party then entered the dining room which was very artistically decorated. In the center of the table was a bouquet of rose buds, lilies of the valley, sweet peas and violets. They then gathered around and participated in a nine course dinner. The remainder of the evening was spent in playing cards. At 12:30 this merry crowd disbanded and bid Miss Hager good-night. Paintsville Herald.

Oils Soothe Skin Disease

Oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine and other healing ingredients compounded in proper proportion into the D. D. D. We are authorized to announce Miss Jennie Higgins a candidate for County School Superintendent of Garrard County, subject to the action of the Democratic primary August 1917.

Our esteemed contemporary, Hon.
Harry Summers of the Elizabethtown News, is not pleased with all the Governor's ideas of economy. In a recent issue of his good paper he says:

"Governor Stanley's recommendation to take from the Sheriff of the State the fee for carrying convicts to the penitentiaries and have the prison guards come for them does not strike us with favor.... In many Counties of the State the office hardly pays sufficient to secure the service of a good man and in cutting off the fees for carrying prisoners to the penitentiaries takes away from the office one of the few easy things the Sheriff has to do for which he receives good pay."

According to our observation the sheriffs, as a class, are the best paid officers of any who serve the State, and we think the Governor is right when he recommends that this "easy thing" the sheriff has in conveying prisoners to the penitentiaries be lopped off. It will be remembered that the sheriff is now getting ten cents per mile for this service, when it only actually costs two and one half cents per mile, and those sheriffs who are from Counties at the extreme ends of the State sometimes make more than One Hundred Dollars a trip conveying prisoners. We not only think that this could be cut off of the sheriff's pay, but several other things and still plenty of good men could be induced to serve the public in this important office. In fact, it would be refreshing to be referred to some County in this State where good men cannot be procured to serve as sheriff on account of insufficient pay.
But, if our brother is correct in this assumption, we can assure him that there are many other Counties in which the sheriff is so much over-paid that he scrambles to get this fat job frequently causes considerable disturbance and brings about the expenditure of large sums of money both in the primaries and in the final elections, and in many instances this is on account of the pay being out of proportion to the duties of the office. There is one thing certain it would be difficult to convince the burdened tax payer that the pay of the sheriff is inadequate, and not sufficient with the Governor's recommendation complicated with.

In our opinion the system in effect by which sheriffs and other County officers are paid should be reformed. The fee system which was adopted many years ago is now thoroughly antiquated and should be reformed and there should be substituted therefor a system by which all County and State officers are paid by salaries. If this was done the sheriffs of the State as well as many other County officers would not be receiving on an average of more than one half what they now get, and the public would be just as well served.
Also other officers would be reduced in proportion in many Counties of the State and this fund could be turned into the making of better roads, or some other useful purposes.

The Governor's recommendation is music to the ears of thousands of tax payers, who are giving him praise for his suggestions in reform and we expect to hear of him recommending in addition to what he has already done that the State abandon the fee system and adopt instead the placing of public officers upon salaries.

RICHMOND BAND

Chosen For Duty At State Functions.

Officers of the Second Regiment Band of the Kentucky State Guards, at Richmond, having been notified by Adm.
Gen. S. Tandy Ellis, that that band had been designated as the official band for state duty by Governor Stanley and is ordered to report at Frankfort to play for the reception that is to be given to the legislators. This is an exceptional good band and gave some fine music and took a prominent part in the inaugural ceremonies last month.

BOTH ARE GOOD.

We are asked, "What is the best conundrum and answer you ever heard?" That which was answered by a minister who was asked by a vain woman which hand he regarded as the most beautiful. And he replied, "Ask the poor, and they will tell you that most beautiful hand is the hand that gives."
Next to it is the reply of a banker who was asked, "Why is a promissory note like a rosebud?" He answered, "Because it matures on falling dew."

HON. H. CLAY KAUFFMAN ADMINISTRATION ANTI-TRUST BILL INTRODUCED IN HOUSE BY GARRARD COUNTY'S REPRESENTATIVE.

Quite a compliment was handed to our Representative, H. Clay Kauffman, when he was intrusted to introduce the Administration Anti-Trust act, which he did last Monday morning and this important bill will be known in the House, as the "Kauffman Bill". It will have the united support of the administration and defines a trust or monopoly as an association of combination of any number of persons established or organized having as its object, or as one of its objects, that of fixing, influencing or regulating the supply, demand or price of any goods, product or commodity in the State of Kentucky or elsewhere, and provides that any person who shall enter into, create, become a member of or participate in any pool, trust or combination in restraint of trade or competition or in the importation, transportation manufacture or purchase of any product or commodity shall be deemed guilty of conspiracy in restraint of trade, or any person who enters into or participates in any trust, agreement or combination to regulate, control or fix the price of any product or manufactured article, or to maintain such price when so regulated or fixed, or to limit the amount of any article of a manufacturer, shall be guilty of conspiracy in restraint of trade.

Any violations of the provisions of this act is deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a fine not to exceed ten thousand dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed one year.
The provisions of the act do not apply to any organization or association having no capital stock or not engaged in the business of buying or dealing in any article of commerce.

SAGERSEER.

After several years suffering from a complication of diseases, Mr. John M.
Sagerseer, aged 78 years, died at his home near the mouth of Sugar Creek on January 16th. He was buried in the family burying ground near the home.
Mr. Sagerseer was the father-in-law of Mr. J. H. Witt, of this city, having married his mother about thirteen years ago. He leaves no children.

SAD DEATH.

Friends and relatives received the sad news of the sudden death of Mrs.
Sadie Chaires Davis, of Jacksonville Fla., which occurred last Tuesday. She was the daughter of Mrs. Sallie Satter Chaires and Thomas Chaires and spent some of her girlhood and school days in Lancaster. She has many friends and relatives here who sympathize with her loved ones in their great bereavement.
Surviving her are three daughters:
Mrs. James R. Taylor, of Miami; Miss Mary Long Davis, of Jacksonville; Mrs.
Logan N. Rock, of Frankfort, Ky. two sons, Chaires B. Davis, of Madison, and George R. Davis, of Miami; one sister, Mrs. Charles Granger, of Sebring.

DOTY.

Capt. John G. Doty, aged 87 years and a widely known citizen of this city, died at the home of his son, John G.
Doty, Jr., near Marksbury, Tuesday morning. While it was known that he was a sufferer from Bright's disease, yet his friends and relatives did not realize that the end was so near. Capt.
Doty was an old confederate soldier and did gallant service for the cause at Woodbury Tenn., and at Chickamauga.
He was a Captain of a local company of State guards before the war and won his title in this way. The ranks of these old soldiers are thinning rapidly in this county and those remaining will shed a silent tear at the loss of another comrade. Capt. Doty was a member of the Presbyterian church at Old Paint Lick and the funeral services were conducted by his pastor, Rev. W.
M. Eldridge, Wednesday afternoon, after which burial services took place in the Lancaster cemetery. He is survived by four children, three sons and one daughter, all of whom are residents of Garrard county.

FISCAL COURT

MEETS TODAY.

Judge C. A. Arnold has called the entire Fiscal Court to meet in session today with Architect Webber and contractor Raymond to pass on the work recently done on our court house. This work is about completed and with a few more little details, will be turned over to the court.

HIGH AVERAGE.

Mr. J. A. Conn Jr., one of the best tobacco raisers in this county, sold his crop in Danville last Friday, that brought him the high average twenty cents a round for his entire crop.

A LITTLE LATE.

Owing to the unavoidable delay in the shipment of five tons of "news" the Record is coming out just a little late this week. Sheet news is advancing every week in price and at times it is almost impossible to get a shipment, although our order for the above lot has been in for several weeks. Some of our rural subscribers may be a day late in getting their paper, but the delay was unavoidable and we trust it will not happen again.

DISTRESSING.

Several cases of poverty was unearthed during the recent cold here in the city, but a few of the good people responded liberally to their aid and much clothing, fuel and food was furnished them. It seems that a charitable organization should be taken up here, so that such cases as these could be promptly looked after, for many of them are worthy and the good people of the town should come to their aid.

BREAD THE STAFF OF LIFE.

The advertisement of Davidson and Doty which appears in every issue of the Record, makes interesting reading, for they are pushing a line of bread that makes your mouth "water" to gaze upon. This enterprising firm has secured the exclusive agency for the "LITTLE BRITAIN" bread and fresh shipments are received daily from Danville, where it is manufactured by the "Shop Perfect." They carry at all times the "Little Britain" loaf, Rye, Graham Wheat, Krimp, Vienna, Raisin Bread and fresh rolls.

MESSAGES FOR LANCASTER.

Beginning last Sunday night, the ministers of this city are giving special sermons on live subject in their meetings at the various churches. These meetings are union in character and will be held at one of the four churches every Sunday night for four weeks.

A good crowd heard Rev. A. J. Clere speak at the Christian church last Sunday night, his theme being "The Master's View." The services will be conducted at the Baptist church next Sunday night, by Rev. S. H. Politt and he has announced his subject; "Our Men's Need Of Church Services."

The meetings begin promptly at 7:15 and the public is cordially invited.
Other announcements will be given out next Sunday.

MYSTERY MAKES TANLAC SECURE Imitation Is Set At Defiance By The Famous Master Medicine.

Tanlac! There is magic in this household word—a magic made by success unprecedented and a fame based very solidly on its accomplishments in more than one million homes.

The ingredients for Tanlac are gathered in the remotest parts of the world.
From the far North woods to Argentina, below the equator; in Russian Asia, the Alps, Pyrennes, on the sunny shores of Italy, from Brazil, Sumatra, Peru, the West Indies, and the slopes of our own timbered Rocky Mountains, come the roots, herbs, barks and even flowers that, under the direction of Herr Joseph Von Trimbach, the noted German chemist, are compounded into Tanlac.

There can be no successful imitation of Tanlac. It is compounded as skillfully and as mysteriously as nature distills the famed mineral waters of Europe.

Tanlac, now universally known as the Master Medicine, is proving invaluable against ailments of the stomach, liver and kidneys, and catarrhal affections of the mucous membranes, which, when neglected, so often affect the vital organs themselves. As a general tonic for half sick, run-down men and women, it builds up the tissues, creates a keen appetite, promotes digestion, vitalizes the blood and brings back color to the cheeks and sparkle to the eyes.

Tanlac may now be obtained in Lancaster at R. E. McRoberts drug store, it is being explained daily.

SUBSCRIPTION LAWS.

"Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered as wishing to renew their subscriptions."

"If the subscribers order a discontinuance of their publication the publisher may continue to send them until all dues are paid."

"If the subscriber refuses to take periodicals from the postoffice to which they are directed, he is responsible until he has settled the bill and ordered the paper discontinued."

"If subscribers move to other places without informing the publisher and the papers are sent to the former address, the subscriber is held responsible."

"The courts have held that refusing to take periodicals from the postoffice or removing and leaving them uncalled for is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud."

"If subscribers pay in advance, they are bound to give notice at the end of the time if they do not wish to continue taking it, otherwise the subscriber is responsible until express notice with payment of all arrearages is sent to the publisher."

WILL HISTORY REPEAT?

One hundred years ago, 1816, was "a year without a summer." Will history repeat itself this year, it being the one hundredth anniversary of that momentous year, says the Paris Democrat. In 1816 it snowed every month in the year. An old man in Kentucky told me he had heard his grandfather talk of that year and one incident had impressed itself on his mind. His grandfather said that he and his "girl" started for a fourth of July celebration, but were compelled to turn back on account of a terrific snow storm.
The old man told me that in the spring of 1817 his grandfather and another man rode from Kentucky on horseback into Pennsylvania and paid $5 per bushel for seed wheat with which to plant their fields. The past year was a step in that direction. We did not have two weeks of real summer weather during the entire year. Possibly the weather man was waiting for the one hundredth anniversary to roll around so that history might have a chance to repeat itself.

HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF.

Mrs. Mary S. Barbee of Denver Colo. has sent leaflets from a hymnal and an almanac which belonged to her great-grandfather, Rev. Thomas Williams to Mrs. Fisher Herring, whose stone farmhouse was built and occupied by this early Kentucky Methodist minister at the close of the eighteenth century.

The hymns are done in penmanship as delicate and perfect as script, suggesting that the pioneer hymnals were in hand-writing.

The almanac, to which the leaves belonged, was for the year 1794. From the verses of warning against the "drum shop" and other evils of the day and the sage prose adviser concerning health and general conduct it gives evidence of having been an issue of "Poor Richard's Almanack", that classic among almanacs that annually emanated from the press of Benjamin Franklin. This was published until 1796.

It is unusual that such frail fragments of early times are returned to the very room in which they were originally held after a removal lasting for generations. Mrs. Barbee lived in Lancaster in her girlhood being a daughter of the late Judge Nicholas Sandifer, and a sister of Mr. Joseph Sandifer, both one time citizens of the town.

Of her relatives now residents of Lancaster are her cousins, Mesdames Elijah Harris, Solon Henry and Wm.
Lawson.

Should Be Enough.

If you believe what you say when you are saying it you are doing pretty well without being held to strict accountability for it years afterward.

Why You SHOULD SELL in LEXINGTON

Because it is the Biggest Market in the World.

Because All Large Manufacturers Have Their Redrying Plants Here.

Because all Smaller Manufacturers buy through Brokers on this Market

Because we have 39 licensed buyers on the Lexington Market.

Because as shown by the Commissioner of Agriculture's report for December there was sold on the markets outside of Lexington 10,202,846 pounds for $896,180.36, an average of $8.78 per hundred, while there was sold on the Lexington Market for the same month 4,984,320 pounds for $511,- 676.86, an average of $10.27 per hundred, showing the average of the LEXINGTON MARKET to be $1.49 per hundred HIGHER than all the other markets of the state combined.

Now Mr. Farmer stop to figure—if the 10,202,846 pounds of tobacco which was sold on your home market could have been sold on the Lexington Market, for an advance of $1.49 per hundred, it would have meant $152,022.41 in your pocket. Then why not take a day or two longer and sell on the biggest and best market in the world.

Our market closed very strong this week and prices on all grades were well maintained with possibly some types a few bids higher. The general average being $10.42 per hundred, which shows an advance of 28 cents per hundred over last week's average.

We have a sale every day in one or more of our houses.

As to the prices we are getting and the way we look after your tobacco—ask any one who has sold with us—we will stand by anything they say about us and solicit your trade on that basis.

We advise you to bring your tobacco on and sell it as soon as you can.

Our Motto is Prompt and Efficient Service and Courteous Treatment.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 4 oz. of glycerine. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the desired shade. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost.
Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and removes dandruff. It is excellent for falling hair and will make harsh hair soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off.

LOAN US FIVE "BANGS"

The following dispatch from Washington says: Passage of the bill to have the United States pay to Louis Landrum, administrator of the estate of W. J. Landrum, who was Collector of Internal Revenue in the Eighth district of Kentucky from 1873 to 1885, $5,346.29 as commissions on collections from 1874 to 1879, was urged today in a report of Representative Stephens, of Mississippi, chairman of the House Committee on Claims. Under the act of 1872 collectors were entitled to commissions of one-half of 1 per cent. of the total collections on distilled spirits.
The estate of Collector Landrum received his commissions from 1880 to 1885 and the present bill is to obtain the commissions for the first four years of his term of office, provision for which was omitted by attorneys for the estate. The bill, reported favorably, was introduced by Representative Helm.

RESOLUTIONS

Adopted By The Session Of Paint Lick Church.

We the session of Paint Lick church would humbly recognize the sovereign authority of God who doeth all things well and the Lord Jesus Christ our Saviour as the Great Head of the church.
Whereas in the removal of our dearly beloved brother, J. Wade Walker, we would not attempt to assign the reason for what God has done, but in humble submission to divine wisdom, we would say "even so Father for so it hath seemed good in thy sight."

Therefore be it resolved by the session
1. That with an abiding faith in the wisdom and goodness of God our Heavenly Father we humbly submit to His will in the removal of our brother and co-worker from the church militant to the church triumphant and glorious.

2. That we put on record our testimony as to the fidelity with which he served his and our Lord and Master, Jesus Christ. For forty three years he served the church in an official capacity till the Master said to him "Well done good and faithful servant". We shall miss his presence in the session, with his wise counsel and delightful fellowship.

3. That we extend to his family our heart felt sympathy and love in their bereavement and commend them to the keeping of our Covenant God. May He at this time graciously give to them the sweet consciousness of His love and presence. And may heaven daily become more real with the added attraction of the loved one whom God has transferred from earth to heaven.

4. That these resolutions be recorded in the minutes of the session, a copy be sent to the family, one the Christian Observer and the county paper for publication.

J. B. Woods,
Clerk of session Paint Lick church.

JOHN WADE WALKER.

The subject of this sketch was the third son of John Williams Walker and Jane Kavanaugh Faulkner Walker.
He was born Nov. 7, 1847 in Garrard county Ky. and, with the exception of ten years in Richmond Ky. he spent his entire life in the community in which he was born. He died at his home Nov. 30, 1915, having just completed his 68th year.

He graduated at Centre College, Danville Ky. in 1868. While a student in College he united with the 1st Presbyterian Church in Danville.

June 6 1872 he was happily married at the Moran family residence to Miss Florence E. only daughter of Mrs.
Franklin Moran. This marriage was blessed with two children, Miss Estill Williams and Dr. Franklin Moran Walker a practicing physician and Deacon in the Prescent Hill Presbyterian church Louisville Ky. He is survived by his widow, these two children, one sister Mrs. Elizabeth Denny of Lexington Ky. one brother, Mr. A. K. Walker of Garrard county, and a large number of nephews and nieces, who mourn the departure of one whom they all loved.

He united with the Paint Lick church August 1872 under the pastorate of the late Rev. Wm. Crow and one month later was ordained a deacon. On August 24, 1878, he was made an elder.
He moved to Richmond Ky in 1891 to educate his children and the family put their letters in the 1st church. He was soon made an elder in the church there.

In 1901 he returned to his farm and was again made an elder in the Paint Lick church. He served the church in an official capacity for forty three years.
He was one of four brothers, all of whom were elders in the Paint Lick church with but one left Mr. A. K.
Walker.

Mr. Walker was no ordinary character. He would have been a leading man in any church or community. The church, the community and the county all recognize the removal of a most useful life. He was richly blessed of God with a magnificent physique and a striking and commanding personal appearance. He was blessed with a fine mind, well developed and well balanced.
But better than all, he had a heart that was in keeping with his large body and strong mind, a heart that had been touched by God's spirit that made it to throb with emotions of love to his fel-lowmen.

He accepted fully the calvinistic doctrine of salvation by grace and his only hope was in the atoning blood of Jesus Christ. He was a humble child of God. He has gone from us, but the power and influence of his character will be felt, as long as any live, who knew this godly man and remember his clean and upright life.

"And I heard a voice from heaven saying unto me, write, Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth; Yea saith the spirit that they may rest from their labors and their works do follow them."

This is the tribute of his pastor who knew him intimately and loved him devotedly.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Miss Katherine Parke, who has been sick with grip for several days is again in school.

The mid-year examinations begins Wednesday noon and will continue throughout the week.

In the matter of the Honor Roll for December we omitted to mention Lena Young and Robert Caneer of the fourth grade.

Our various rooms of the school building are warm, comfortable and inviting this zero weather which speaks well for the heating plant.

The epidemic of grip which has had the school in its clutches for several days is gradually easing up and the vacant seats are nearly all taken again.

Mrs. Todd, teacher of expression, was called to Franklin Tenn. because of the serious illness of her grandmother. Mrs. Todd will not meet her classes this week.

Catherine Bourne of the Junior class goes to Danville with her parents who have moved there. Her many class mates regret to see her go. She will enter school there.

Miss Webb's music class is steadily growing in numbers. She has several new pupils this week. The boys as well as girls are availing themselves of an opportunity to take music.

The girls in Miss Robinson's sewing class are entering into their work with renewed energy and enthusiasm. The work that is being done by this class is really worth while and there are large possibilities for this work.

There is an awakening of a general character relative to the teaching of moral and religious truth in the public schools of this country. The schools of Seattle, Spokane, Tacoma, Birmingham, Grand Rapids, Des Moines and New York City are trying out experiments in this direction. There is a crying need today for the development of the fundamental elements of character that results in complete manhood and womanhood. The inculcation of the principles of truth, honesty and sobriety in the minds of youth in its adolescent period, in the formative stage of life, is the sovereign task of education.
The world today is calling, as never before, for young men of sound body, trained intellect and high morals. The institutions of training cannot supply the demand. No educational system is complete that does not measure up to Plato's standard of giving to the body and to the soul of the beauty and all of the perfection of which they are capable.
Are the schools meeting this supreme test?

Here is the letter written by Hugh Watson, aged 12, a newspaper carrier, of Oklahoma City, which took the $10

AN OLD-TIME NURSE CURED

Of Catarrh of the Stomach by Peruna
MRS. SELENA TANNER, Athens, Ohio.

This Cure Dates From October 3, 1899.

- Oct. 3, 1899 —"Catarrh of the stomach. Was nearly starved. After taking Peruna I have a good appetite." Sept. 11, 1904 —"I can assure you that I am still a friend of Peruna. My health is still good."
April 23, 1906 —"Yes, I am still a friend of Peruna. Will be as long as I live. I keep it in the house all the time."
Dec. 18, 1907 —"I recommend Peruna so often that they call me the Peruna doctor. Peruna recommends itself when once tried."
Dec. 27, 1908 —"I still tell everybody I can that Peruna is the best medicine in the world."
Aug. 15, 1909 —"Peruna saved my life years ago. I still take it when I have a cold."
Jan. 4, 1910 —"I was threatened with pneumonia. Peruna saved me."
May 17, 1912 —"I am glad to do anything I can for Peruna."
May 6, 1914 —"I have always been a nurse. Peruna has helped me in my work more than all other medicines."
Mar. 22, 1915 —"I have divided my bottle of Peruna with people many times. It always helps."

The above quotations give a vague glimpse of the correspondence we have had with Mrs. Tanner since 1899. Our files, which cover twenty-five years, include many similar correspondents.

Mr. Geo. Haddad of Brower's Store of Lexington, will be at the Women's Club Tuesday morning with a display of Oriental Rugs. Every body is cordially invited to inspect them.

Mrs. R. E. McRoberts was the hostess on Sunday at a beautifully arranged dinner party in honor of her guest, Miss Harriet Crouch, of Clarksville, Tenn. Covers were laid for twelve guests.

Superintendents Len Miller and Jack Burnside, of the Lancaster Record, very cleverly came over last Friday and adjusted the L. J.'s new Omaha folder, which is used to fold the eight-page paper now issued on Fridays. Both are mechanical experts and soon had the new machine working like a clock.

Interior Journal.

Miss Minnie Razook and her brother, Mr. T. Razook, are stopping at the Kengarian. The annual visit of these two interesting people is looked forward to by the ladies with pleasure as they carry a line of goods they cannot sell elsewhere, such as foreign embroidery, imported kimonos and imported dresses, beside oriental rugs.

Mrs. William A. Arnold left Monday to reside with her sister, Mrs. Henry H. Hall at Winchester. Mrs. Arnold's many friends here regret very much that she has concluded to leave Lancaster, especially those associated with her in church work. She was an efficient officer in the C. W. B. M. auxiliary, and also taught a class in the Christian Sunday School for the past seven years.

The following will interest readers of the Record. "Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Brent, of Lexington, are in Florida on their honeymoon. Mrs. Brent before her marriage was Miss Annet Tomlinson of Lancaster. Having spent several weeks at Jacksonville, St. Augustine and the Breakers, Mr. and Mrs. Brent have gone to Cuba before returning by way of New Orleans." — From Florida letter in Courier Journal.

Mrs. E. M. Hardin has issued very attractive invitations to a beautiful reception in honor of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ebenezer M. Hardin, next Saturday afternoon at her bungalow on Hardin avenue. Receiving with Mrs. Hardin will be Mesdames Ebenezer M. Hardin, H. C. Bohon, Robert Harding, of Danville and Miss Haldon Hardin. Mrs. W. P. Harvery, Miss Libbie Payne Margaret Harding, of Danville; Mattie Miller Ailin and Minnie Bail Moore will assist in entertaining. One hundred and twenty-five invitations have been issued and a number of out of town guests are expected. — Harrodsburg Leader.

Misses Martha Kavanaugh and Nancy Walker gave a delightful small party in honor of Mrs. McRoberts house guest, Miss Harriet Crouch, of Clarksville Tenn. The invited guests met at Stormes' on the rezzanine floor, and from there went to the moving picture show, where they occupied the boxes and enjoyed seeing Margaret Clark in the "Gosse Girl". After the picture show they went to the Masonic Club room which had been beautifully decorated in hearts, cupid, bows and arrows suggestive of leap year and Valentine. This jolly party then played "500" after which delightful refreshments were served which still further carried out the Valentine idea, the cakes and ices being heart shaped.

They say that Cupid strikes the match. That sets the heart aglow.

But where does Cupid strike the match Is what we'd like to know.

CHATMAN-SIMPSON.

After a courtship of over three years, the marriage of Miss Eunice Chatman to Mr. John Simpson, both of Nicholasville, was brought to a happy ending yesterday when they were joined in wedlock at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Hogan Ballard, near Bryantsville.

Miss Chatman will be pleasantly remembered as the musician at the Lancaster Opera House where she charmed the audience so often with her delightful music. Mr. Simpson is a well-to-do farmer of Jessamine and owns a nice home in Nicholasville.

PRATHER-STAPP.

The marriage of Miss Eunice Prather to Mr. James Stapp was solemnized in Lexington last Monday afternoon at the residence of Dr. Fortune, that gentleman officiating. Miss Eunice is the beautiful daughter of Judge J. P. Prather and is just out of her teens. She is universally popular in this city, where she has lived for the past ten years.

Mr. Stapp is a young business man of Lexington and is to be congratulated upon the prize that he has won. Immediately after the marriage they left over the Queen and Crescent for the South where they will spend their honeymoon. The best wishes of the Record together with their friends, go with them.

ZIMMER-WALKER.

Again cupid has been successful in the matrimonial field here and this time has gathered under his wings two more of our most popular young people, and started them out across the sea of life together. No little surprise was created among the friends and relatives of Mr. Green Clay Walker and Miss Elsie Zimmer when it was learned that they had driven by auto to Richmond, where they caught the fast train for Covington and were married in that city yesterday afternoon, by Father Hillemeier. A telegram to the parents of the bride this morning announced these facts.

Miss Elsie is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Zimmer, proprietors of the Kengarian Hotel, and has spent most of her life in this city, having graduated with honors from the High school here a few years ago. She is loved by every body and is an accomplished and cultured young lady to which are added the womanly graces and sterling worth that tend to make life's happiness.

Mr. Walker is a prominent young lawyer and is also a popular and progressive young man and at this time is holding the office of County attorney to which he was elected by a handsome majority a few years ago. For three years he was the editor of the Central Record and only relinquished his connection when he made the race for that office.

The Record join their friends in wishing them a life of unalloyed happiness.

KINNAIRD-FORD.

At nine thirty o'clock, Tuesday morning Jan 18th, the home of Dr. and Mrs. James B. Kinnaird was the scene of one of the prettiest home weddings ever solemnized in this community, when their daughter, Miss Patsy McKee, and Mr. Eliza Evans Ford, son of Judge A. D. Ford, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony in a most impressive ceremony, by Rev. F. M. Timber. The architectural features of this beautiful home, which so well suited such an occasion, were further enhanced by the loveliness of the decorative effect. White and green was used, white carnation being the flower of the sorority, Chi Omega, to which the bride belonged. The parlor was artistically decorated in potted plants, ferns and vines, colonial candles and vases of white carnations were everywhere in evidence.

This occasion has been looked forward to by their many friends for some time, and long before the appointed hour, the house was filled with invited friends and relatives, who came to witness this all important event. Immediately preceding the wedding ceremony, Mr. Charles Doty, sang, "Because" in his own inimitable way, followed by the sweet strains of the wedding march, beautifully rendered by Miss Helen Gill, then came the bride and groom, unattended, and stood under the arch way which was festooned in southern smiles and white carnations. The charming bride never looked more beautiful than she did on her wedding morn attired in a white broad cloth with fur trimmings and hat to match. She carried a large colonial bouquet of pink roses tied with pink ribbon which gave a charming touch to her toilet. The groom was handsomely attired in a suit of dark navy blue and looked his best, on this grand occasion.

The bride is an accomplished and talented young lady, she possesses the attributes of character that have made her life a pleasure to her friends and a comfort to her family and she will be a jewel in the home of the man of her choice. The groom is in every way worthy of her, being moral, industrious and one of our best business young men.

The happy couple left at once for a southern trip and will spend most of their time in New Orleans.

The presents were many and varied, but all were beautiful and the quantity attested the popularity of this young couple.

How Hard Work Affects the Blood.

Recent experiments show that the number of red corpuscles, and therefore the oxygen-carrying capacity of the blood, are increased by labor sufficient to cause an appreciable amount of perspiration. If there is no perspiration there is no such increase.

Made From Wood Pulp.

All sorts of hardware articles are now compounded of the pulped tissues of trees that once swayed gracefully in some northern forest—cigar and cigarette holders, fancy combs, umbrella materials, films and a hundred other things.

Nature's Equalization.

A peculiarity of deaf cats is that they seem to have a very great sense of feeling in their feet pads. It is almost an impossibility for a heavy animal to approach a deaf cat from behind without giving it warning, and this may be attributed to the extreme sensitiveness of the cat's feet recording the slightest tremor of the ground.

Light Repels Mosquitoes.

According to a suburban resident of New York city, red glass or red dipped incandescent lamps do not attract mosquitoes in the way that the ordinary white light does. By installing low candlepower red lamps on porches where only general illumination is necessary, it is said that persons may enjoy comparative immunity from mosquitoes, just as if no lamps were used.

Proper Methods of Slaughtering Hogs

A well selected butchering outfit and a convenient place for working are important considerations at hog killing time. To aid in this work demonstration specialists of the department suggest a handy and complete "kit." This consists of two butcher knives, two "bell" or "candlestick" scrapers, a meat saw and a sharpening steel. The meat saw is for sawing down the backbone and cutting up the carcass. The "candlestick" scrapers have detachable handles and are used to remove the hair and scurf from the hogs. A long waterproof apron, which will protect the clothing, can be had at small cost.

Preparation of Animals For Slaughter. A twenty-four to thirty-six hour fast, plenty of water, careful handling and rest before slaughter are all important.

HOW OF FARM KILLED HOGS.

In securing meat in the best condition for use, either fresh or for curing purposes, food in the stomach decomposes very rapidly after slaughter, and where the dressing is slow the gases generated often affect the flavor of the meat. Water should be given freely up to the time of slaughter, as it keeps the temperature normal.

It is highly important that the animals be not excited in any way sufficiently to raise the temperature of the body. If the animal becomes heated it is better to allow it to rest overnight before killing than to risk spoiling the meat. It is also essential that the hog be carefully handled so as not to bruise its body.

Points on Killing.

It is customary on the farm to stun hogs before sticking them, although in some localities this is not done. Another method is by shooting the hog through the head with a rifle. However, extraordinary care should be exercised in using a rifle around farm buildings. After stunning by a heavy blow on the center of the forehead immediately above the eyes with a poleax the eight inch straight bladed knife is inserted into the hog's throat in the under portion of the neck to a point just in front of the chest cavity, but not into this cavity. The knife is given a twist and sideward motion to sever the blood vessels and allow the blood to flow. By tying the hog on one side and elevating the ham end the blood will gravitate freely.

Proper Temperature of Water For Scalding and Scraping.

A barrel is the receptacle commonly used for scalding. If it is set at the proper slant, with the open end against a table or platform of the proper height and the bottom securely fastened, there is little danger of accident. A strong table built for the purpose would be a very desirable thing on which to work, though it is not absolutely necessary. A box often serves very well. The water for scalding should be heated to the boiling point. This will allow for a reduction of temperature when the water is put into a cold barrel, the best temperature for scalding the hogs being from 145 degrees to 150 degrees. Be careful not to have the water so hot as to cook the skin of the hog. If the water is too hot the hair is likely to set. A small shovelful of hardwood ashes added to the water aids materially in removing the scurf from the body, though it has no effect in loosening the hair. A lump of lime, a handful of soft soap, a little pine tar or a tablespoonful of concentrated lye has the same effect.

How to Scald a Hog.

The hog should not be scalded before life is extinct, or the blood vessels near the surface of the skin will be cooked, giving a reddish tinge to the carcass. While being scalded the hog should be moved constantly to avoid cooking the skin. Occasionally it should be drawn out of the water to air, when the hair may be "tried." As soon as the hair and scurf slip easily from the surface scalding is complete. If it is suspected that the water is too hot scald the hind end of the hog first. If the water is too hot and you overscald the head you will be adding to the trouble of scraping the part most difficult to clean. When the water is about right begin by scalding the head.

The scraping and cleaning of the hog's skin should be done as soon as possible after removal of the animal from the scalding vat. Scraping a cold hog is difficult, if not an impossible task. Where it is necessary to reverse the position of the hog in the barrel to complete scalding the portion scalded should be cleaned before attempting to scald the other end of the hog.

When the hair starts readily remove the animal from the water and begin scraping. The "bell" scraper should be used with a long, sweeping movement.

KIPLING SEES 40,000 MEN

Noted Author Is Thrilled by Veteran Army Corps of the French.

We present below the third of six articles from the pen of Rudyard Kipling, under the general title of "France at War on the Frontiers of Civilization," describing the impressions of a visit to the fighting line in France.

By RUDYARD KIPLING.
(Copyright, 1915 by the Sun Printing and Publishing Association.)

TRAVELING with two chauffeurs isn't the luxury it looks to be, since there is only one of you and there is always another of these iron men to relieve at the wheel. Nor can I decide whether an ex-professor of the German tongue or an ex-racer who has lived six years abroad or a brigadier makes the most thrilling drives through three mile stretches of military traffic repeated at half hour intervals.

Sometimes it was motor ambulances strung along a level or supply trains or those stern big guns coming around corners with trees chained on their long backs to puzzle aeroplanes and their leafy big shells snorting behind them. In the rare breathing spaces men with rifles and road metal attacked the road. In peace the roads of France, thanks to the motor, were none too good. In war they stand incessant traffic far better than they did with the tourist. My impression after some 700 miles were printed off on me a between sixty and seventy kilometers was of uniform excellence. Nor did I come upon any smashes or breakdowns in that distance, and they certainly were trying them hard. Nor, which is the greater marvel, did we kill anybody, though we did miraculously down streets to avoid babies, kittens and chickens.

Gaiety Amid Horrors.

The land is used to every detail of war and to its grim, horror and makeshift, but also to war's unbounded courtesy, kindness and long suffering and the gaiety that comes, thank God, to balance the overwhelming material loss.

There was a village that had been stamped till it looked older than Pompeii. There were not three roofs left nor one whole house. In most places you saw straight into the cellars. But huts were ripe in the grave dotted fields round about. They had been brought on and piled. In the merest outline of a dwelling women sat on chairs on the pavement picking over the good smelling bundles. When they had finished one they reached back and pulled another through the window hole behind them, talking and laughing the while.

A cart had to be maneuvered out of what had been a farmyard to take the huts to market. A thick, broad, fair haired wench of a sort that Miller drew hung all her weight on a spoke and brought the cart forward into the street, when she shook herself and, hands on hips, danced a defiant little jig in her sabots. As she went back to get the horse another girl came across the bridge. She was precisely of the opposite type, slender, creamy-skinned and delicate featured. She carried a brand new broom over her shoulder through that desolation and bore herself with the pride and grace of a Catalan. The farm girl came out leading the horse, and as the two young things passed they nodded and smiled to each other with the delicate tangle of the haw vines at their feet.

Crown Prince's Ambition.

The guns spoke earnestly in the north. That was the Argonne, where the crown prince was busily getting rid of a few thousands of his father's faithful subjects in order to secure to himself the reversion of his father's throne. No man likes losing his job, and when at the long last the inner history of this war comes to be written we may find that people we mistook for principals and prime agents were only average incompetents moving all hell to avoid dismissal. For it is absolutely true that when a man sells his soul to the devil he does it for the price of half nothing.

It must have been a hot fight. A village, wrecked, as is usual along this line, opened on it from a hillside that overlooked an Italian landscape of carefully drawn hills and studded with small villages; a plain with a road and a river in the foreground, and an all revealing afternoon light upon everything. The hills smoked and shook and belched. An observation balloon climbed up to see while an aeroplane, which had nothing to do with the strife, but was merely training a beginner, ducked and swooped on the edge of the plain. Two rose pink pillars of crumpled masonry guarding some carefully trimmed greenery on a lawn half buried in rubbish represented a hotel where the crown prince had once stayed. All up the hillside to our right the foundations of houses lay out like a bit of tripe with the sunshine in their square hollows. Suddenly a hand began to play up the hill among some trees, and an officer of the local guards in the new steel anti-shrapnel helmet, which is like the seventeenth century sallet, suggested that we should climb and get a better view.

Found a Sure Thing.

REVIEW OF BY KITCHENER

"Solidarity of Civilization" Is Demonstrated—Hears Roar of German Guns.

He was a kindly man, and in speaking English had discovered, as I do when speaking French, that it is simpler to stick to one gender. His choice was the feminine, and the boche was described to us as "she" throughout. He made me think better of myself, which is the essence of friendship.

"Our" Guns and "Theirs."

We climbed a flight of old stone steps, for generations the playground of little children, and found a wrecked church and a battalion in billets recreating themselves with excellent music and a little horseplay on the outer edge of the crowd. The trouble in the hills was none of their business for that day.

Still higher up on the narrow path among the trees stood a priest and three or four officers. They watched the battle and claimed the great bursts of smoke for one side or the other at the same time as they kept an eye on the flickering aeroplane.

"Ours," they said, half under the breath.

"Theirs—no, not ours; that one was theirs. . . . That fool is banking too steep. . . . That's the boche's shrapnel. They always burst it high. . . . That's our big gun behind such and such a hill. . . . He'll drop his machine in the street if he doesn't take care. . . . There goes a trench sweeper. . . . Those last two were theirs, but that—it was a full roar—was ours."

The valley held and increased the sounds till they seemed to hit our hillside like a sea. A change of light showed a village exquisitely penciled atop a hill, with a reddish haze at its feet.

"What is that place?" I asked. The priest replied in a voice as deep as an organ:

"That is so and so. It is in the boche lines. Its condition is pitiable. The thunders and the smokes rolled up and diminished and renewed themselves, but the small children romped up and down the old stone steps. The beginner's aeroplane unsteadily chased its own shadow over the fields and the soldiers in the billet asked the band for their favorite tunes.

Germans Play "Tipperary."

Said the lieutenant of local guards as the cars went on:

"She play 'Tipperary.'"

And she did, to an accompaniment of heavy pieces in the hills, which faded us into a town all ringed with enormous searchlights. French and boche together, scowling at each other beneath the stars.

It happened about that time that Lord Kitchener, with General Joffre, reviewed a French army corps. We came on it in a vast dip of ground under gray clouds as one comes suddenly on water, for it lay out in misty blue lakes of men mixed with darker patches like red beds and an undergrowth of guns, horses and wagons. A straight road cut the landscape in two. Along its murmuring front it was as though Cadmus had sown the dragon's teeth, till, horrified by what rose up, he had emptied out the whole bag and fled.

But these were no new warriors. Their record of their mere pitched battles would have satisfied a Napoleon. Their regiments and batteries had learned to achieve the impossible as a matter of routine and in twelve months they had secured for a week lost direct contact with death.

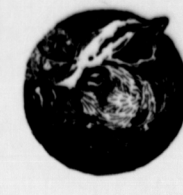

We went down the line and looked into the eyes of those men with the used bayonets and rifles, the packs that almost at once they turned to the shoulders that would be strange with their repaired wheels and the easy working limbs. One could feel the strength and power of the mass as one feels the flush of heat from off a sunbaked wall.

Generals See Troops.

When the generals' cars arrived there was no loud word or saluting about. The lakes of men gathered into straight edged battalions, the batteries aligned a little, a squadron reined back or spurred up, but it was all as shiftily smooth as the certainty with which a man used to the pistol draws and levels it at the required moment. A few peasant women saw the generals alight. The aeroplanes, which had been skimming as low as swallows along the front of the line—theirs must have been a superb view—ascended leisurely and waited on like hawks. Then followed the two figures, tall and short, growing smaller side by side along the white road till far off among the cavalry they entered their cars again and moved along the horizon to another rise of the gray green plain.

"The army will move across where you are standing. Get to a flank," some one said.

We were no more than well clear of that immobile host when it all surged forward, headed by massed bands, playing a tune that sounded like the pulse of France. The two generals with their staff and the French minister for war were on foot near a patch of very green lucerne. They made about twenty figures in all. The cars were little gray blocks against the gray skyline.

There was nothing else in all that great plain except the army, no sound but the changing notes of the aeroplanes and the blunted impression rather than noise of the feet of men on the soft ground. They came over a slight ridge, so that one saw the curve of it first furrowed, then grassed with the tips of bayonets, which immediately grew to full height, and then beneath them poured the wonderful infantry. The speed, the thrust, the drive of that broad blue mass was like a tide race of an arm of the sea, and how much speed could go with such weight, could be in itself so absolutely under control, filled one with terror. All the while the band on the far headland was telling them and telling them—as if they did not know—of the passion and gaiety and high heart of their own land in the speech that only they could fully understand.

To hear the music of a country is like hearing a woman think aloud.

"Sambre et Meuse." Perhaps.

"What is the tune?" I asked of an officer beside me.

"My faith, I can't recall for the moment. I've marched to it often enough, though. The Sambre et Meuse, perhaps. Look, there's my battalion—those chausseurs yonder."

He knew, of course, but what could a stranger's curiosity in that earth-shaking passage of 300,000?

The note behind the ridge changed to something deeper—

"Our guns," said an artillery officer and smiled tolerantly on the last blue waves of the line already beating toward the horizon. They came twelve abreast, 150 guns free for the moment to take the air in company behind their team, and next week would see them hidden singly or in lurking confederacies of two or three by mountain and marsh, forest or the wrecked habitations of men.

When the big guns followed them with that long nosed air of detachment peculiar to the breed the gunner at my side made no comment. He was content to let his arm speak for itself. But when one big gun in a sticky place fell out of alignment for an instant I saw his eyebrows contract.

The artillery passed on with the same inhuman speed and silence as the line, and the cavalry's snorting trumpets closed it all. They are like our cavalry in that their horses are in high condition, and they talk bores of getting past the barbed wire of one of these days and coming into their own. Meantime they are employed on various work as required, and they all sympathize with our rough rider of dragons who flatly refused to take off his spurs in the trenches. If he had to die as a damned infantryman he wasn't going to be buried as such.

Only One Horse Fell Out.

A troop horse of a flanking squadron decided he had had enough of war and jibbed like Lot's wife. His rider, we all watched him, ranged about till he found a stick, which he used, but without effect. Then he got off and led the horse, which was evidently what the brute wanted, for when the man remounted the jibbing began again. The last we saw of him, and he was immensely lonesome figure leading one bad but happy horse across an absolutely empty world. Think of his reception—the sole man of 40,000 who had fallen out!

The commander of that army corps came up to salute, the cars went away with the two generals and minister for war, the army passed out of sight over the ridges to the north, the peasant women stooped again to their work on the fields and a wet mist shut down on all the plain. But one thing with the electricity that had passed that way. Now one knows what solidarity of civilization means. Later on the civilized nations will know more and will wonder and laugh together at their old blindness.

When Lord Kitchener went down the lines before the march past they say he stopped to speak to a general who had been Merikand's chief of staff at the time of the Fushoda incident, and Fushoda was one of several cases when civilization was very nearly maneuvered into fighting with itself for the king of Prussia. As the saying goes, the all embracing violence of the boche is best realized from French soil, where they have had large experience of it. And yet, as some one observed, we ought to have known that a race who have brought anonymous letter writing to its highest pitch in their own dirty court affairs would certainly use the same methods in their foreign politics. Why didn't we realize?

For the same reason, another respondent, that society did not realize that the late Mr. Smith of England, who married three wives, bought baths in advance for each of them and when they had left him all their money drowned them one by one.

"And were the baths by any chance called Denmark, Austria and France in 1870?" a third asked.

No; they were respectable British tubs, but until Mr. Smith had drowned his third wife people didn't get suspicious. They argued, "Men don't do such things." That sentiment is the criminal's best protection.

HOME DECORATION

Some Expert Suggestions About the Furnishing of Homes.

SIMPLE, BEAUTIFUL LINES.

How Charming Effects in Wall Papering, Floor Coverings, Lighting and Harmony May Be Obtained is Told in a Practical Way.

There are a great many people who can appreciate a beautiful decorative scheme for a home, but who cannot tell why they appreciate it and who cannot duplicate it.

"How beautiful," they exclaim, "and how simple! One would think that any one could do it." However, "any one couldn't," and that is just where the trouble comes in.

The first essential to good decorating is innate good taste. If this is lacking all the science in the world will not make up for it. The second requirement is the knowledge of some of the simpler principles of color, line, form and composition. This one may acquire if one is willing to take a little trouble.

"The first thing to do when you are confronted with the decoration and furnishing of a given room is to take an inventory of its color possibilities. It is the element that can materially strengthen or weaken the most carefully studied arrangement of form and line."

The psychological effect of colors, red being exciting, blue elevating and yellow cheering, is well known. All colors need modifying before they can be successfully used in home decorating. In selecting a color scheme for a room those colors should be used which have one of the primary colors as a base.

For example, let us assume that we wish to decorate a room whose prevailing colors shall be buff—we find that in producing buff we have included a little yellow and red, some orange russet and citron. We are to apply these to a living room, the woodwork of which is dark mahogany. We would apply the buff, the prevailing color, to the walls; the russet to the floor. We would lighten the buff with a fringe of orange and the russet with a carpet of citron, and we would bring out the bright spots with a lamp or a beaded window in which pure red and yellow would bring the whole scheme into relief.

Yellow is an expanding color and makes areas seem large, hence its value in a small room. Red is a positive color and makes a room hold its true value. Blue is a contracting color and makes a place seem smaller.

Perpendicular stripes on a wall paper or draperies will give the room height. Horizontal stripes in wall paper or draperies will give the room width. Small, disconnected spots of pattern in wall paper will dance and are seldom to be desired. Realistic flowers, fruits or birds in wall papers and draperies should never be used.

Floor coverings or treatments should be low in tone and should form a base for the room. Highly polished floors are uncomfortable to walk on and impractical from every viewpoint. The natural finish of the floor, not highly polished, is preferable. Oriental rugs should be chosen with great care and should be investigated with an eye to the real value, both in wear and color. If a worn rug offered to you as antique is less than $5 a square foot there is something wrong. Either the dealer is being cheated or you are.

Considerable attention should be given to the subject of lighting. The modern indirect lighting, excepting for use in the service part of the house is not opposed. For reading or for general lighting effects the softer, mellower direct light, shaded by either a silk or glass shade, is preferable. Arrangement of lighting fixtures in the home should be such as to give you light where it is needed. Other light is costly, both to the eyes and pocketbook.

In furniture it is well to avoid excessive carving—knobs, ball finials, spirals and curly curves. In simple lines and broad, graceful curves there are charm and dignity.

Extensive wall and floor spaces are needed to properly carry large furniture, such as divans, davenports and "overstuffed" pieces. In small rooms they crowd and complicate the rooms, making them look much smaller than they are. In small rooms a simple, light set of furniture of the straighter type is best, but if that cannot be obtained furniture of the Georgian period will be found very satisfactory.

Adam furniture is always painted. Shadings are always inlaid with other woods and Hoppelwhite or Chippen date always carved. These are the principal Georgian period divisions and should be chosen according to individual requirements.

Mahogany, genuine or imitation, and other highly polished woods should be avoided where wear counts. They are easily scratched, gather dust and finger marks and require much labor to keep them in condition.

Period furniture should be used only in the rooms fitted completely in the given period. In modern small apartments, with little wall space and miscellaneous woodwork, it has no place.

Potted plants and cut flowers are a means of decoration that can be both inexpensive and effective. A large Boston fern or a single rose in a slender vase gives life and charm not to be gained in any other way.

"Have nothing in your home that you do not know to be useful and be sure to be beautiful," stated William Morris.—From "Good Taste in Home Furnishings."

LIBERALS SUPPORT WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Compromise with Purpose of Forestalling State-Wide Prohibition

MAY SUBMIT TO PEOPLE

Redistricting Promised to Remove Republican Complaint—Scores of Bills Introduced, Many Are Nearly Identical.

FRANKFORT, Ky., (Special).—All of the Democratic platform recommendations will be adopted at this session of the Legislature with the possible exception of that covering revision of the state's revenue and taxation laws, which may be handled at a special session for that specific purpose upon the call of Governor A. O. Stanley, according to leaders in political circles.

There is a chance for the woman suffrage amendment to be passed which will submit the question to the voters next year. It is claimed that many of the Liberals are in favor of this as a forestall and compromise of the state-wide prohibition amendment.

A redistricting measure, fair enough to remove Republican complaint, will no doubt be put through.

Stanley County, a partition of Pike and the 12th county is expected to be created after an interesting fight in both branches of the General Assembly.

The investigation into expenditures for printing is expected to be followed by legislative inquiry into the conduct of certain departments and institutions.

Governor Stanley has welcomed Republican resolutions of this sort and has made it clear that he will insist on the state's affairs being conducted in the same manner as a business man would manage a going concern.

On the first bill day for the Senate scores of them poured into the top per:

Senator Frost introduced a State-wide prohibition bill. It provides for a vote to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors, to become effective June 30, 1919, and to prohibit the manufacture of intoxicating liquors to become effective June 30, 1920.

An anti-lobby bill was introduced by Senator Williams. It provides that the Secretary of State shall keep a register which shall contain the names of persons appearing before the Legislature in the interest of certain measures. This register will not only contain the name of the lobbyist, but the measure for which he is working. Among other important bills introduced were:

A bill amending Section 125 of the constitution so as to give equal suffrage to women was presented by Senator Combs.

Another amendment to the constitution was offered by Senator Arnett. This bill seeks to make the State Superintendent of Public Instruction eligible for re-election. The bill provides that the State Superintendent shall be elected or appointed, but in either case he is eligible for re-election or reappointment.

The destroying or burning of election stub books is provided for in a measure presented by Senator Brock. The workmen's compensation act was offered by Senator Knight.

Senator Stricklett's bill requires associations or corporations operating in this city to pay employees twice monthly.

The bill of Senator Antle increases the penalties for the unlawful sale of whisky in dry territory.

Owners of live stock slaughtered because of the foot and mouth disease will be reimbursed if the measure of Senator Zimmerman, providing for the payment of claims for loss suffered on account of the disease is enacted into law.

The bill offered by Senator Combs regulates the right of foreign corporations to do a trust business in this state and to act as trustees under deeds and mortgages.

Senator Glenn's bill creates the office of County Health Supervisor in one or more counties.

The establishment of a Western Normal School for negroes in Western Kentucky is asked for in the bill of Senator Huntman.

Senator Leach introduced a bill requiring railroads operating for a distance of 15 miles or more to stop all passenger trains at county seats, or at some station within four miles of the county seat.

The operation of ferries by counties is provided for in a bill of Senator Glenn.

Senator Combs introduced a bill amending Section 201 of the constitution, permitting the consolidation of competing telephone companies.

The creation, organization and maintenance of county high schools by two or more counties is provided for in the bill of Senator Frost.

Senator Hiles introduced a bill making it unlawful to use any statement which is untrue, deceptive or misleading in an advertisement and fixing a fine of not exceeding $500 and imprisonment in the County Jail not exceeding 90 days for such offense.

The holding of county teachers' institutes for rural schoolteachers the first of May instead of the first of August, is asked in the bill of Senator Taylor.

Senator Williams' bill seeks to limit the number of cars in a train to 80.

Senator Knight introduced a bill to amend Section 54 of the constitution to permit the enactment of a workmen's compensation act.

Practically the same bills were introduced in the House.

The resolution by Senator Antle, seeking for the Legislature to send its endorsement of ex-President Taft for the Supreme Court Judgeship, was laid on the table by a vote of 19 to 15, after a number of warm arguments were advanced. Several Democrats supported the resolution. Senator Frost said that he should not be endorsed because he vetoed the Webb Kenyon bill, claiming that it was unconstitutional.

Senator Robertson spoke earnestly to secure the endorsement of Chief Justice Miller.

Senator Scott said that the entire procedure was out of place and foolish for the Legislature to attempt to suggest who President Wilson should appoint and made a resolution to table the motion, which received a number of seconds and a hearty applause from the gallery.

Later in the week the Senate refused to endorse Judge Benton or any one else.

No senator fared better than Senator Helm on committee appointments. He was made chairman of Public Road committee, and placed on the Committees on Judiciary, Kentucky Statutes, Printing and Congressional Redistricting. The indications are that he will be one of the busiest members of the session.

Senator Knight, of Louisville, introduced a bill in the Senate to appropriate $65,000 to pay for the cattle killed in the state to eradicate the foot and mouth disease.

Sportsmen from all parts of the state gathered in Frankfort at the call of the State Game and Fish Commission to work out questions and offer suggestions for new legislation on the game laws. They called on Governor Stanley, who commended the work of the Commission, but refrained from endorsing anybody's bill.

Representative Langley has consented to be a candidate for Delegate at-large to the Republican National Convention. The state convention will be held March 1st.

The "wet" and "dry" question has been injected into the house several times during the week. The City Council of Frankfort had discussed the matter of providing an ordinance to keep the saloons open until midnight instead of eleven o'clock, in order to provide for the legislators according to the reports.

Rep. Lyon, of Hart County, one of the ultra-dry, introduced a resolution providing that the House recent any inference that the members of the House desired the saloons to remain open for their benefit.

The point was raised that the resolution was out of order. Rep. Humphrey, of Fleming, was presiding in the absence of Speaker Duffy and sustained the point. An appeal, signed by Rep. Harvey and Lyon, was taken.

Vacating the chair, Speaker Humphrey designated Rep. Harry Myers of Covington, to preside. The appeal was sustained by a vote of 47 to 44. The resolution was then adopted by the vote of 60 to 30.

A petition, seeking the impeachment of J. E. Williams, Judge of McCreary County, alleging he is an incompetent and unqualified official, was filed in the House by Rep. Radcliffe, of Henry County.

The resolution of Rep. Minor, placing the House on record as against extra help, was adopted.

The repeal of the Frazer Commission and the creation of a board to be known as the Kentucky State Board of Control for Penal and Charitable Institutions, is provided in a bill of Rep. Cary. A board of three members at a salary of $4,000 annually, to be appointed by the Governor, is provided, and they will have complete charge of prisons, houses of reform state asylums and all charitable institutions.

The Senate adjourned Tuesday out of respect to the memory of the late Senator Walker, of Hall, of Kenton County. A committee was appointed to draft resolutions on his death.

Not satisfied with the number of bills introduced in the Senate carrying out the principle pledges of various members of the General Assembly, the House members introduced two anti-pass bills; two state-wide prohibition bills and two anti-lobby bills.

The Fynn railroad bill, giving the State Railroad Commission the same power over interstate shipments as the Interstate Commerce Commission made its appearance again this week in both the House and Senate. It was billed and banged out of the legislature of 1912 and 1914.

Calling for an investigation of the status of the suit of the Commonwealth against Dr. J. N. McCormack, of Bowling Green, former secretary of the State Board of Health, a resolution was unanimously passed by the Senate, being introduced by Senator Huffaker. The suit is seeking to recover $65,000, money alleged to have been spent illegally.

HIDDEN DANGERS

Nature Gives Timely Warnings That No Lancaster Citizen Can Afford to Ignore.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 1 comes from the kidney secretions. They will warn you when the kidneys are weak. Well kidneys excrete a clear, amber fluid. Disordered kidneys send out a thin, pale and foamy, or a thick, red ill-smelling urine, full of sediment and irregular of passage.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 2 comes from the back. Back pains, dull and heavy, or sharp and acute, suggest weak kidneys and in that case warn you of the danger of dropsy, gravel and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills are endorsed by thousands. Here's Lancaster proof:

C. T. Brummett, grocer, Crab Orchard St., Lancaster, says: "Nearly every spring, I use Doan's Kidney Pills to keep me in good health. During the winter, colds settle on my back and cause pains through my kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills stop the pains and my kidneys become normal."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Brummett had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy Most Effective.

"I have taken a great many bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and every time it has cured me. I have found it most effective for a hacking cough and for colds. After taking it a cough always disappears," writes J. R. Moore, Lost Valley, Ga. Obtainable everywhere.

Room in Order Saves Nerves.

System and order are as necessary to a woman as light and air; particularly does the well-being of the working woman's nerves depend on these two things. A day—some Sunday—spent in planning and arranging her room and her belongings will make for weeks and months of tranquillity and comfort in the life of one who is employed six days a week outside her room.—Exchange.

Overcoming Insomnia.

Sometimes repeating rhymes and jingles, taking full, deep breaths between words or lines, will hasten sleep, or lying in a certain position may work in other cases. One man can always sleep if he lies on his left side and reads for a few minutes. Many people try the reading plan, but reading in bed is not hygienic and it is better to form some other good sleep habit.—Good Health.

What the Fishes Can See.

Fishes can distinguish one color from another and can even distinguish between different shades of the same color. This has been proved by a long series of experiments upon gobies and sticklebacks, undertaken by Miss Marie Goldsmith in the biological laboratory at Roscoff, France, under the direction of Professor Delage. These also proved that fishes can distinguish between the forms or shapes of objects.

Plainly Expressed.

A certain rector in a small English village who was disliked in the parish had a curate who was very popular, and who, on his leaving, was presented with a testimonial. This excited the envy and wrath of the rector and, meeting with an old lady one day, he said: "I am surprised, Mrs. Bloom, that you should have subscribed to this testimonial." "Why, sir," said the old lady, "if you'd been a-going 'd have subscribed double."

Enemy of the Fern.

One of the worst enemies of ferns indoors is the mealy bug. This is a white, woolly insect that clings close to the bottom of the fronds. When there is reason to suspect its presence the plant should be examined every day and all insects removed with a splinter or toothpick. If the infestation is bad, the whole top of the fern can be cut off to within an inch of the ground and then allowed to grow again after all the insects have been exterminated.

AUSTRIA GIVES ANCONA REPORT

Assumes Responsibility For Ship's Loss.

NEW ISSUE RAISED WITH U. S.

Government May Protest Ship Was Destroyed Before All Her Passengers and Crew Had Left Her—Declares Liner Fled.

Washington, Nov. 15.—The Italian liner Ancona case, which has been puzzling the department of state ever since she was torpedoed in the Mediterranean, was presented in still another light with the issuance of a statement by the Austro-Hungarian embassy, giving the official account of the destruction of the liner.

While the Austro-Hungarian statement, if accepted as correct, disposes of the question as to whether the Ancona was warned before being attacked, it raises still another issue in which the United States may prove to be vitally concerned. If it is shown that any Americans were killed by the actual torpedoing of the Ancona, it is believed the United States will protest on the ground that the vessel was torpedoed before all her passengers and crew had left her. The statement follows:

"The submarine fired one shot in front of Ancona's prow, whereupon the steamer fled at full speed, in accordance with the order issued by the Italian authorities, which instructs ship commanders to flee or to sink the submarine. The submarine pursued the steamer and continued firing, but the vessel stopped only after being hit several times.

"The submarine allowed forty-five minutes for the passengers and crew to abandon the steamer on board of which panic reigned, but only a small number of boats were lowered and these were occupied principally by the crew.

"A great number of the boats, probably sufficient to save all the passengers, remained unoccupied.

"After a period of fifty minutes and as another steamer was approaching the submarine submerged and torpedoed the Ancona, which sank after an additional forty-five minutes.

"If any of the passengers lost their lives this was due to the fault of the crew, because the steamer tried to escape after it had received orders to stop, and then the crew only saved themselves and not the passengers.

"Reports published in the foreign press that the submarine fired on the Ancona's lifeboats are mendacious inventions.

"Daredevil" Pegoud

He was the dauntless aviator—high He sailed his winged ship against the blue Or heaven's feathered canopy, the sky! He was the captain! He, the intrepid crew!

And when the world was swallowed up In the dark and the mist, a massive cup Of star fire split across his trail That shimmered and shone like a meteor veil.

He was the dazzling hero of the age! At his command the gay air sprites would hold Him close within their eager arms War's wage

Is death—his power in war has now been told. And when the east was ruffled o'er With the blush of morn, supreme he'd soar.

An eagle skimming the roof of the world. Ere yet day's banners were unfurled!

He was a maiden knight of earth's late hour. Fame holds him for her youngest child in fee; Mid pangs of cold and death, for glory's flower

His hand was out to pluck incessantly. Aye, came it middle day or night. His pilot hand could guide aright. Yet science marks the path to fly. Pegoud, the brave, must fly—and die!

BLUEJACKETS' WASHDAY TO BE ONLY A MEMORY.

Regular Laundries May Be Installed on All Sea Fighters.

The navy department will soon take under consideration Secretary Daniels' plan to install laundries for the enlisted men on all battleships.

It came about during the secretary's visit aboard a battleship during his first year in the service. Through an oversight a number of buckets of water containing soiled clothing of blue-jackets had been left standing along the deck when the secretary came aboard. It was evidently "blue Monday" aboard that particular ship, and the secretary inquired the reason for the buckets.

He was told they were wash buckets, in which the men did their own laundry work. When the secretary got back to Washington he decided that one of the first things to do would be to install a laundry on a battleship by way of experiment. The Texas was selected, and bids were opened for two large washing machines, two centrifugal wringers and a soap tank.

The operation of the laundry was placed in charge of a first lieutenant, and regular laundrymen were engaged to do the washing for the Texas. The members of the crew, released from the arduous duties of wash day, were glad to pay 40 cents a month, irrespective of the number of pieces they had in the wash. Officers, chief petty officers and users of mess linen are charged so much per piece, as these dignitaries are required to wear standing collars, and the laundry work for them is harder.

According to the report made by Captain A. W. Grant, who was in command of the Texas until a short time ago, it is a big success. He recommended that laundries be established aboard all the battleships, and it is regarded as probable that the idea will be carried out before the close of the present administration.

Aside from the fact that it relieves a battleship crew of the work of laundry duty, the saving to the navy in fresh water is alone sufficient, officers say, to insure the installation of common laundries.

WEEKLY WAR REVIEW

Teutons and Bulgarians, the past week continued their efforts to cut off or annihilate the Serbian army. These efforts, however, are growing more difficult, as the Serbians now have occupied, according to their official report, defensive positions in the mountains. Heavy fighting is reported on the Moravia. Big battles also are proceeding in southern Serbia between the Bulgarians and the Anglo-French troops. Rome announced Nov. 13 that Italy had decided to send troops to aid the English and French.

The continued landing of British and French troops at Salonica caused Bulgaria and Turkey to send fresh protests to the Greek government. A dispatch dated Nov. 14 states that four German officers arrived at Salonica from Sofia on Oct. 25 and spent three days motoring in that district, especially in the section where the allied troops were concentrated on the 28th. It is said that the Germans constitute a special mission, whose object was to establish relations between the governments at Athens, Constantinople, Bucharest and Sofia.

King Constantine was assured by the Germans, it is said, that Rumania would remain neutral and that Bulgaria's pledge to Greece would be guaranteed by Germany.

According to a series of dispatches from Petrograd the remounting of the czar's army is nearly complete. The Russian offensive has begun in earnest between Riga and Mitau. A Berlin dispatch admits that the Russians have gained a footing in the first line of German trenches.

Artillery engagements featured the week on the western and Italian fronts.

STARVE THE HESSIAN FLY.

The Hessian fly, being in the "daxseed" stage in wheat stubble and in unharvested wheat from June till September or even October in the south, can be destroyed by carrying out the following methods of control:

First.—Burn where possible and safe all stubble and ruined wheat.

Second.—Disk all stubble and ruined wheat immediately after harvest where burning is impracticable.

Third.—Plow under deeply all stubble and ruined wheatfields before Aug. 15, harrow the ground and roll if necessary.

Fourth.—Harrow, disk, pasture or otherwise effectually destroy all volunteer wheat.

Fifth.—As a measure preparatory to sowing, plow as early and deeply as existing conditions will permit. Disk, harrow and roll until a thoroughly pulverized, compact seed bed is obtained.

Sixth.—Do not sow wheat until after fly free date.

Seventh.—Rotate your crops if possible.—United States Department of Agriculture.
